Béla Bartók

From Mikrokosmos

"Bulgarian Rhythm" and "From the Island of Bali" both appear in Mikrokosmos, a six-volume series for beginning to advanced pianists. These books were begun for Bartók's son Péter's piano instruction; published in 1940, they reflect Bartók's life-long interest in musical pedagogy. The works also form a compendium of the composer's compositional techniques, including asymmetrical and changing meters, unconventional key signatures and modal materials, use of Bulgarian and other folk materials, symmetrical musical structures, and rhythmic ostinati.
